Seminar on "Ethics in Research and Publication" was organized by the department of Pharmaceutical Sciences was inaugurated by Dr. M.B. Venkatapathi Raju, Professor and Principal, Department of Pharmaceutical Chemistry, Avanthi Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Vizianagaram.

The seminar gave a good understanding regarding the ethics to be followed when doing research or working on a publication. Research ethics involves using ethical principles in research activities involving research design and implementation, empathy towards society and others, utilization of resources, and misconduct in the process and regulation of research. On the other hand publication ethics includes best practices and standards setting, initiatives and guidelines, conflict of interest, authorship and contributor ship, open access publishing and publishing misconduct. It is essential to follow ethical guidelines in research and publication to ensure that the research is conducted in a responsible and transparent manner. The seminar was ended with clarifications of student queries.

Seminar on, "Core Quantitative And Qualitative Approaches Used In Pharmacy Practice Research" organized by Avanathi institute of pharmaceutical sciences was inaugurated by K.Ramana Murthy Venkata working as a at Andhra university college of pharmaceutical sciences. The aim of this seminar was to provide students and faculty members with valuable insights into the fundamental research methodologies employed in the field of pharmacy practice. Speaker Dr. K. V.Ramana Murthy garu had addressed about qualitative approaches, quantitative approaches, integration of qualitative and quantitative approaches and case studies. And he has explained about Traditionally, how core quantitative approaches are used in pharmacy practice research include nonexperiments, quasi-experimental designs, and true experimental designs such as prospective randomized controlled intervention trials. The seminar on "Core Quantitative and Qualitative Approaches Used in Pharmacy Practice Research" was a resounding success. It provided an excellent platform for students and faculty members to enhance their understanding of research methodologies and their application in pharmacy practice.

Meeting platform : Seminar hall

Participants : Students and Faculty

No. Of Participants: 110

The seminar was conducted in Avanthi Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences on “The Importance of Statistical Tools in Research Works”, provided valuable information about Statistical tools in research which help researchers understand what to do with data and how to interpret the results, making this process as easy as possible and also explained how to manage large data sets, making data processing more convenient.

The seminar began with an overview of Statistical methods involved in carrying out a study include planning, designing, collecting data, analyzing, drawing meaningful interpretation and reporting of the research findings. Statistics are important because they help people make informed decisions. Governments, organizations, and businesses all collect statistics to help them track progress, measure performance, analyze problems, and prioritize and also seminar emphasized the importance of statistics in research that it provides the exact description and a better understanding. It helps in designing the effective and proper planning of the statistical inquiry in any field. It gives valid inferences with the reliability measures about the population parameters from the sample data. Finally the session was ended with queries of students and faculty.

The seminar on "Overview and Tips to Write Research Methodology" provided participants with a comprehensive understanding of the importance of research methodology in academic writing. The focus of the seminar was on the critical aspects of rewriting and refining the research methodology section of a scholarly work, ensuring clarity, precision, and alignment with research objectives. The seminar commenced with an exploration of the pivotal role played by research methodology in any scholarly work. Participants gained insights into how a well-crafted methodology enhances the credibility and validity of research findings. The discussion identified common challenges researchers face when developing the methodology section. Challenges such as ambiguous language, lack of detail, and inconsistencies were addressed, emphasizing the need for a clear and transparent methodology.

Speaker has provided information about Practical tips and strategies for rewriting the research methodology section were shared. Participants were guided on how to critically evaluate their existing methodology, identify areas for improvement, and implement effective rewriting techniques. Participants left with a deeper understanding of the key components of a robust research methodology, strategies for clarity and precision and practical tips for successful writing. By applying the knowledge gained from the seminar, researchers are better equipped to produce methodologically sound and impactful scholarly works.

Report on One-Day Seminar on “Challenges of Protection of Copyright Laws in The Digital Era”

Topic: “Challenges of Protection of Copyright Laws in The Digital Era”

Date: 10/08/2018

Speaker: Dr. G. Chandrasekhar Rao

M.Pharm, Ph.D.

Professor

Department of Pharmaceutical technology

Yalamarty College of Pharmacy, Vsp

Participants: Students and faculty

No of participants: 130

The one-day seminar addressing the "Challenges of Protection of Copyright Laws in The Digital Era" convened with the primary objective of examining the complexities and evolving landscape surrounding copyright protection in the digital age. The seminar drew together legal experts, industry professionals, policymakers, and stakeholders in the creative and technological sectors to dissect the challenges faced in safeguarding copyright laws in today's digital environment.

Key Objectives:

1. To analyze the impact of digital technologies on copyright laws and intellectual property rights.
2. To explore the challenges and loopholes in enforcing copyright protection in the digital space.
3. To discuss potential solutions and strategies to adapt copyright laws to the digital era.

The seminar provided a comprehensive overview of the complexities surrounding copyright protection in the digital age. It served as a platform for in-depth discussions among legal experts, industry professionals, and policymakers, highlighting the urgency of addressing the gaps in existing legislation to safeguard intellectual property rights effectively.

Seminar on Intellectual Property Rights – An Overview and implications in pharmaceutical industry ” was organized by the department of Pharmaceutical Sciences was inaugurated by Principal Dr. M B V Raju and Dr. Biswamohan Sahu, Professor, Medicinal Chemistry, Roland Institute of pharmaceutical Sciences.

The seminar gave a good understanding regarding the implications of Intellectual Property Rights in Pharmaceutical industry. Intellectual property rights in pharmaceutical sector encourage the development of medicines and vaccines for new diseases constantly being found. They also offer incentives for developing new novel concepts into potential new medicines. It enables customers to make informed decisions when choosing medicinal products. IPR ensures a standard by guaranteeing quality, which builds a dependable and efficient public health infrastructure. The session gave profound knowledge to all the participants and successfully ended with queries followed by vote of thanks.

Seminar on "LAW RELATING TO COPYRIGHTS IN INDIA" organized by the department of Pharmaceutical Sciences was inaugurated by Dr. M B V Raju, Principal and Dr. Ch. Niranjan Patro, Professor & Vice Principal at Roland Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences. The seminar on the above topic gave a good understanding regarding the law relating to Copyrights in India, to encourage creators to develop/create new work and provide appropriate protection. He also stated that the Copyrights Act, 1957. Copyright refers to the legal right of the owner of Intellectual Property -copyright is the right to copy which means that the original creators of products and anyone they give authorization to are the only ones with the exclusive right to reproduce the work. The session also enlighten about Section 48 of the Copyright Act provides that the registration of copyright shall be prima facie evidence of the particulars entered therein. Acquisition of copyright is automatic and it does not require any formality. Finally the seminar was successfully ended with queries of participants.
