WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY

On June 5th, World Environment Day serves as a global platform for raising awareness about crucial environmental issues, including marine pollution, overpopulation, global warming, sustainable development, and wildlife crime. This observance, participated in by over 143 countries, aims to promote public outreach and environmental consciousness.

To commemorate World Environment Day, Dr. M.V.B. Raju, the principal, initiated a tree-planting drive on the campus. Faculty members actively participated by planting saplings, and a notable aspect of the initiative was the motto 'One Student, One Plant.' This led to a substantial number of trees being planted, and continuous monitoring reflects their flourishing growth, contributing to a greener campus.

In addition to tree planting, a clean-up campaign was undertaken, with the success measured by the weight of collected waste. This effort visibly transformed the cleanliness of the surroundings, enhancing the aesthetics and promoting a more sustainable environment.

The NSS Wing of the college further contributed to World Environment Day by organizing a rally from the college campus to the nearby Tagarapuvalasa.

This rally demonstrated the collective commitment of the college community to environmental awareness and conservation.

Evidence of success: It includes the active participation of students, faculty, and staff in World Environment Day events such as tree planting and awareness campaigns. The high attendance and positive feedback from these awareness sessions signify an increased level of engagement and understanding of sustainable practices among the participants.

TEACHER'S DAY

Teacher's Day holds special significance as a dedicated occasion to honour and appreciate the invaluable contributions of teachers to society. While the specific date and traditions vary across countries, it is generally celebrated annually to recognize the pivotal role that teachers play in shaping the minds and futures of their students.

In the United States, National Teacher's Day is observed on the first Tuesday in May, while in India, it is celebrated on September 5th to coincide with the birthday of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, a revered philosopher and educator who served as India's first Vice President and second President. This day serves as a profound recognition of the crucial role teachers play in educating and inspiring the upcoming generation.

The college marked the celebration of Teacher's Day with devotion and reverence, following Indian traditions. Esteemed guests, including senior faculty members, graced the occasion. The event commenced with floral tributes to the portrait of Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, and the guests reflected on his contributions and the noble Guru-Shishya Parampara.

As part of the tradition, the college honours its exceptional teachers with awards, acknowledging their significant role in shaping students into responsible citizens, fostering personal growth, and nurturing well-learned professionals.

Evidence of success is reflected in the seamless execution of ceremonial activities, including felicitation ceremonies and awards, recognizing outstanding teachers. WORLD HEALTH DAY

World Health Day, observed annually on April 7th, is a global health awareness day organized by the World Health Organization (WHO). This event serves as a worldwide platform to promote awareness and action on crucial health issues impacting individuals globally. The commemoration of World Health Day provides an opportunity to underscore the importance of health in our daily lives and address major health challenges facing humanity.

It serves as a reminder for individuals, communities, and governments to recognize the value of investing in health promotion, disease prevention, and the provision of high-quality healthcare services. Additionally, World Health Day aims to motivate people and communities to take steps to improve their health and well-being, and advocate for policies that promote health equity and universal health coverage.

Over the years, World Health Day has focused on various themes such as mental health, universal health coverage, vaccinations, diabetes, and antimicrobial resistance. The primary objective is to educate and engage people worldwide in significant health issues through campaigns, events, and awareness-raising initiatives, encouraging action to enhance global health outcomes.

Evidence of Success: At AIPS, World Health Day was observed by raising awareness among students about health concerns, promoting healthy practices within the community, supporting local health projects, advocating for equitable healthcare policies, and spreading knowledge about the importance of well-being. Through these efforts, we collectively work towards building healthier and more resilient communities.
